LEOMIE ANDERSON

Leomie Anderson model, activist, spokesperson and entrepreneur, are just a few of the words that scratch the surface when describing Leomie. When she is not walking the runway for Jeremy Scott, Armani, Savage by Rihanna, Christian Cowan, Richard Quinn etc. Or being featured in the Victoria Secret Fashion Show as one of the Victoria Secret's "Angels", you can find her gracing the pages of magazines like: Vogue Italia, Elle UK, Vogue UK, Wonderland, Rollercoaster, Teen Vogue, Paper Magazine etc. Leomie has also been the face of beauty brands such as Pat McGrath and Fenty by Rihanna. Most recently she has been featured as the spokesperson for Redken Haircare.

Leomie is a two-time Ted Talk veteran and has spoken at both Cambridge and Oxford Universities. She has presented the Red Carpet as an "It Girl", as well as been featured on-air, for "The MTV European Music Awards". She has been a presenter at the "British National TV Awards" and hosted panel talks around the topic of inclusivity for both "Zendaya x Tommy" and Khloe Kardashian for "Good American".

Clearly, Anderson is not just a model, as she actively uses her voice to spread awareness and inspire others with her female focus platform "LAPP" (Leomie Anderson Project for Purpose). LAPP is a clothing line, but also an online vehicle for women to be able to speak their mind. LAPP has landed Leomie the number one spot on Forbes "30 under 30" List for "Arts & Culture" in 2020. As well, on Beyoncé's recently released "Black Owned Brands List" to support. In June 2020, Harper's Bazaar US, listed her as one of the Top Ten "Black Voices" to follow online.
