NOAH BECKER

In his early teens the Miami raised and Berlin based artist Noah Becker went off on a journey of creative exploration. After Noah moved from the US to Europe, the band Bakery started to come together. Together with his two bandmates he builds amazing psychedelic, electronic, and indie soundscapes inspired by the Berlin creative hub and played venues such as Katerblau and Berghain. They also create amazing sound experiences for the Funkhaus and the Lido. Now the band has grown into a multifaceted artistic collective called Baketown. Noah has made a name for himself as someone that can offer a broad experience in producing a wide range of music and can provide specific beats for venues and events – from live concerts, to amazing sound installations, and solo DJ Gigs. Noah’s creativity does not stop at music, as you can see, it unfolds in all parts of his life.

At the moment you can see his love for art and design reflected through his paintings, that he creates as a part of the collective. Becker channels his deep emotions into his paintings and the outcome for him is inevitably positive – you can catch his work being exhibited in places, such as the Hamburger Gallery. For Noah, it is all about being grounded, having a judgement free lifestyle and zone. Free to explore and create.

Don’t stray too far, you won’t want to miss what is coming up next for Noah ...
