Recently graduated from The London Contemporary Dance School, Renee earned a BA in Contemporary Dance. Since then she has been in LA working with the Jacob Jonas The Company dance company, and most recently shot the James Perse Campaign with Jacob, where they used us as models and dancers. Renee is interested in exploring the synergy between music and dance. She is currently based in London and has just finished a research project with the choreographer Sasha Roubicek which was funded by the Conservatoire for Dance & Drama. She is also working on a production project with the filmmaker Leila Bartell.
